

Terminations

Terminations and ancillary equipment are an important part of our complete product and service offering. Most of the terminations we supply are designed by us and manufactured locally by our established network of trusted suppliers. We can also source specified terminations from other recognised third parties and facilitate their installation as necessary.

Our customers benefit from being able to source the whole package (including umbilical, termination and testing) from one trusted supplier.

Examples include:

- Armour body

- Pull-in heads

- Cobra heads
- J-tube seals
